

Star Sailors

By

G.A. Blackburn

We all share a journey on this Spaceship Earth As we sail through this Universe of Space and Time.

On missions of destiny to find our lives.

We were each born of a spark of love

And will finally discover the connection with one.

The wisdom of this universe is all that prevails

To help us find our way home on an infinite sea of love.

Each sailor must light their own way

And the star shine that glows are their beacons of eternal life.

Look to the stars in the night sky and you will see All the star sailors for eternity.

Gaze into this vision of light of lights, because

You and I are a part of this destiny, on our own journey to become one

And return back to a cosmos we call home.

G.A. Blackburn September 15, 2023

