

Many of us Aerospace engineers began our passion with the Sci-Fi books, magazines and films of the late “40’s and ‘50’s. Jules Verne, H.G. Wells, Buck Rogers, Flash Gordon and Space Patrol mentored us into the future and the Space Age. By the time the Space Race got here we had honed our skills on model kits, homemade rockets and Hot Rods. The Magoski’s Pete and son Michael keep this spirit alive in their “Magic Kingdom” nearby in Fullerton, Ca. At their marvelous “ ModelMania “Emporium you will find everything there is to find that was produced in a model kit. If they don’t have it, they will find it.

Spending an afternoon in the shop is like stepping back in time. It is a unique experience. Pete has a thousand stories of his time at Convair and North American Aviation/Rockwell in Downey. His volunteer Adam is so helpful and enthusiastic you can’t leave without finding something to take home.

Emily Heller is a remarkable collaborator and expert who is adding a refreshing and contemporary vision to the “Mania” provides valuable guidance through this Grotto of sensory overload and memories.

ModelMania is the closest you can get to a time machine to the past. Pete, Michael, Adam and Emiliy will guide you on an incredible Journey.

Visit them for a trip to remember.....
